

Eight Tips for New Graduates

A slightly irreverent viewpoint

Wayne K. Yamamoto

April 5, 2011, 1:30PM

Room CSE 305

Ever wonder what it is like to work “in industry” – especially in a high tech startup? If so, this talk is for you. I’ll present 8 tips for success as you consider your career, post graduation. A short presentation will be given, followed by Questions and Answers, and then refreshments.

“Office Hours”

Also, if you would like to meet one-on-one, I’ll be on campus on Monday and Tuesday in CSE 452. Please schedule a time at:

<https://reserve.cs.washington.edu/visitor/week.php?year=2011&month=04&day=04&room=1711>

(You may need to cut-and-paste the above link.)

Alternatively, send me an email at yamamoto@charityblossom.org, and we can schedule a time (or just stop by). If you have questions about:

- What it’s like to work in industry? At a startup? In Silicon Valley?
- What’s a job interview like?
- How can I prepare for a job pre-graduation?
- What jobs/internships might be available at Charity Blossom?

I’m happy to talk with you!

About the Speaker

Wayne is a UW CSE graduate and has worked in both large companies and small. He is the founder and CEO of Charity Blossom (www.charityblossom.org). Previous companies include BroadVision (which he helped grow to a multi-billion dollar business) and MerchantCircle (www.merchantcircle.com) -- the largest network of small businesses in the US.

www.charityblossom.org/corp/uw